We Salute The Future Farmers Of America

Joel Carneflix, president of Robert E. Lee FFA Chapter Appomattox High School, speaks. Joel's speaking in FFA public speaking contest won a hundred dollars him last year. He won the chapter, federation, area, ate of Virginia FFA speaking contests last year. He mpeted in a regional three state contest held at Myrtle ach, South Carolina.

National F. F. A. Week

Dillard Franklin receives a check from a representative of the Seaboard Airline Railroad as winner in the State of Virginia for the Seaboard Forestry Award. Dillard toured several large cities up north and went to the National FFA convention last fall as guest of the Seaboard railroad.

Richard Harris checks up on a tractor. Richard won the FFA tractor driving contest held at the Farmville Fair last fall.

Fine Work Done By Future Farmers of America

There are over 380,000 FFA boys in the United States. There are over 9,000 Future Farmers of America boys in the State of Virginia, and there are 105 FFA members enrolled in vocational agriculture at Appomattox High School. These members make up the Robert E. Lee FFA Chapter which was rated as a gold emblem chapter at the National FFA Convention last fall. This is the highest award given to any Chapter by the national convention.

These members study the latest scientific findings concerning the production of crops and livestock, and the caring for farm machinery. They study in the classroom, in the vocational agriculture farm shop, and on their home farms or on someone else's farm. They take field trips out to the farms for first hand demonstrations. Each member carries two or more productive enterprises for profit and/or experience. He tries out as many of the scientific practices on his enterprises as he is able to do.

National Future Farmers of America Week seeks to focus attention on the work of the Future Farmers of today, who will be the successful farmers of tomorrow.

This nation must have a constant supply of NEW farmers every year to replace those who die, retire, or otherwise leave the farm. These must be men with experience and training, for the successful farmer today is both a scientist and a businessman; mechanic and a laborer, at the same time capable of leadership in the affairs of the community Generally, they must be men who have begun farming at an early age. Vocational agriculture offers young men this opportunity, and by so doing renders a great service to the nation.
